Bare, Red-Handed Murder.

BY ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS.

"Strip away the flag and the epaulet, remove the drum-beat and the piteous glaze called glory, and you have bare, red-handed murder. It is nothing less, it is nothing more, and the day has gone by when the laws of God permit or the laws of man should condone the thing."

Don't Scold.

BY ADA C. SWEET.

Of all forms of human effort and execution, scolding is the most useless. When a parrot, a chipmunk, a squirrel or bluejay scolds he is ludicrous. For people to scold is ludicrous too, but with a difference, and assuredly the difference is on the unfavorable side.

It never did and never will do any one any good. It has done much harm. Besides, scolding grows to be a habit. We have all suffered because of the shortcomings of some one else, receiving tremendous tirades over what we had no hand in, because we happened to be present when the scolding habit was yielded to by one of its victims.

Scolding is easy. It takes neither power of brain nor heart to scold. It does not even make any great draft upon the physical being. Any fishwife alive can be a grand success at scolding! Why compete with her?

TO THE DEAF.

A rich lady, cured of her Deafness and Noises in the Head by Dr. Nicholson's Artificial Ear Drums, gave $10,000 to his Institute, so that deaf people unable to procure the Ear Drums may have them free. Address No. 4971, The Nicholson Institute, 780 Eighth Avenue, New York, U.S.A.

A FINE GOLD PEN.

To any one who will send us the names of five new subscribers to the ADVOCATE OF PEACE with the money, five dollars, we will send as a present, postpaid, a fine three-dollar fountain pen.

Scolding should be compelled to perish from the earth. The tongue, the voice, the eye, the face—all should be trained not to scold; yes, and the pen, for of all things a scolding pen is the worst. And the habit once formed with the pen is apt never to be entirely shaken off.—Woman's Home Companion.
